

Privacy Notice

General

This Privacy Notice sets out how Elias Neocleous & Co. LLC (the “Firm”) processes data, whether on individuals (including personal data in respect of individuals who are clients, intermediaries or other third parties that the Firm interacts with, or any individual who is connected to those parties) or otherwise. Where the data held are on individuals, this document also sets out the rights of those individuals in respect of that personal data.

This Privacy Notice has been prepared in accordance with the provisions of the EU General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”).

Any questions relating to this Privacy Notice or requests in respect of personal data should be directed to our Data Protection Officer (DPO) at dpo@neo.law.

Who we are

The Firm is the largest law firm in Cyprus operating out of three offices in Cyprus and an international network of offices in Prague, Budapest, Kiev and Brussels.

The Firm strives to protect personal data and apply high standards of conduct when it comes to privacy issues. It ensures that its employees are provided with the appropriate training in order to handle personal data promptly and in accordance with the laws. Furthermore, the Firm endeavors to ensure that any parties with whom it co-operates apply the same high standards when it comes to data protection and privacy as the Firm.

What data do we hold?

The Firm processes data in the context of providing legal and other services to its clients. The categories of data it may collect and process, according to the particulars of each case, include:

- contact details (including names, postal addresses, email addresses and telephone numbers);
- information required by the Firm to meet legal and regulatory requirements, in particular in respect of anti-money laundering legislation, including information on source of funds and source of wealth;
- information provided in the course of the provision of legal and other services (for example, information on professional relationships and background, financial wealth and assets held, transactions entered into, tax status, disputes and court proceedings engaged in);
- financial information, such as payment related information;
- meetings attended and visits to our offices;
- any other information you may provide to the Firm.

Important notice on Special Category Data

In certain instances, the personal data that the Firm processes may include "Special Category Data" (which includes information on a person's race, ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, genetic or biometric data processed for the

Unless expressly declared in this Privacy Notice or with the prior consent of the individual, personal data collected from an individual will not be disclosed to any third party other than the above-named parties.

Where the Firm is entering into an engagement with a third party pursuant to which data may be processed by that third party, the Firm will seek to enter into an agreement with that third party setting out the respective obligations of each party and it will seek to be reasonably satisfied that the third party has measures in place equal to those of the Firm to protect data against unauthorised or accidental use, access, disclosure, damage, loss or destruction.

In the event that any such third party is outside of the European Union and where the data being transferred would include personal data which would be protected under applicable Data Protection regulation the Firm will ensure that it meets the relevant requirements of that Data Protection regulation prior to carrying out any such transfer. This may include only transferring the data where the Firm is satisfied that:

- the non-European Union country has Data Protection laws similar to the laws in the European Union;
- the recipient has agreed through contract to protect the information in the same Data Protection standards as the European Union;
- we have obtained consent from relevant data subjects to the transfer;
- if transferred to the United States of America, the transfer will be to organizations that are part of the Privacy Shield.

Rights of Data subjects

Data subjects in the European Union (or any jurisdiction with equivalent legislation to the European Union General Data Protection Regulation) have certain rights in respect of their personal data. Any such data subject wishing to exercise any rights under applicable data protection laws (including the right to withdraw any consent to processing previously given; the right of access to data; or to have data corrected, updated, rectified or erased; or for access to data to be restricted or provided to any third party; or to object to any particular processing; or to lodge a complaint with the relevant supervisory authority; or the right of data portability) should send the request in the first instance to dpo@neo.law.

In response to such requests, the Firm reserves the right to require the individual making the request to provide certain details about himself/herself so that the Firm can validate that the individual is indeed the person whom the data refers to. The Firm is required to respond to the request of the individual within 40 days and it will endeavour to do so wherever possible. The Firm reserves the right to charge a reasonable fee to cover any expenses that may arise from the request.

In any case in which a data subject chooses not to provide any personal data, or where any of the rights set out above are exercised to limit the processing of personal data, the Firm may be unable to provide relevant services, or there may be restrictions on the services which can be provided.

Retention of data

The Firm retains personal data in accordance with the Data Retention Policy. Any personal data provided to the Firm is retained according to the Firm's ISO procedure IMS-01, Clause 4.0 Control of Records, to fulfil the purposes for which the data was collected. After the fulfilment of the purposes for which the personal data was collected, such data will be destroyed, and a Destruction Certificate will be retained in the Firm's records, unless destruction is prohibited for legal, regulatory or technical reasons.

Any requests for further information in relation to the continued processing of specific data and requests for destruction of data should be made to dpo@neo.law.

For further information on the retention and destruction processes of the Firm, please visit the Firm's Data Retention Policy at www.neo.law.

Use of Personal Data in Legal Proceedings

If it becomes necessary that the Firm has to take action against you for any reason whatsoever, including but not limited to recovering from you any money you owe to the Firm, you expressly agree that the personal data provided by you can be relied upon in identifying and taking legal action against you.
